

Good Citizens are concerned with Fair Housing

Why do we talk about homes?

Having shelter is an essential need for all the members of a community. This month we are featuring stories of people who designed, built, or worked on improving houses and homes in their communities.

Architects are people who design buildings, the ones on this list found housing to be an essential part of what inspired them.

These books also look at how kids and families participate in building homes and can be active citizens in their communities!

Discussion Questions

1. This book club is called Good Citizens, what do you think that means?
2. What does having a home mean? Does everyone have a home?
3. What are the different kinds of homes you see in our community?
4. Do you think the words home and house are the same? Why or why not?
5. How can kids be good citizens when it comes to fair housing?
6. How does having good housing help make our community strong?

Join us for a live book discussion

January 27, 2023 5:00pm

Register at <https://events.sonomalibrary.org/>

SEBASTOPOL REGIONAL LIBRARY
7140 Bodega Avenue, Sebastopol
(707) 823-7691
sonomalibrary.org

Brought to you by the Measure Y sales tax

What kinds of organizations help with housing in our community?

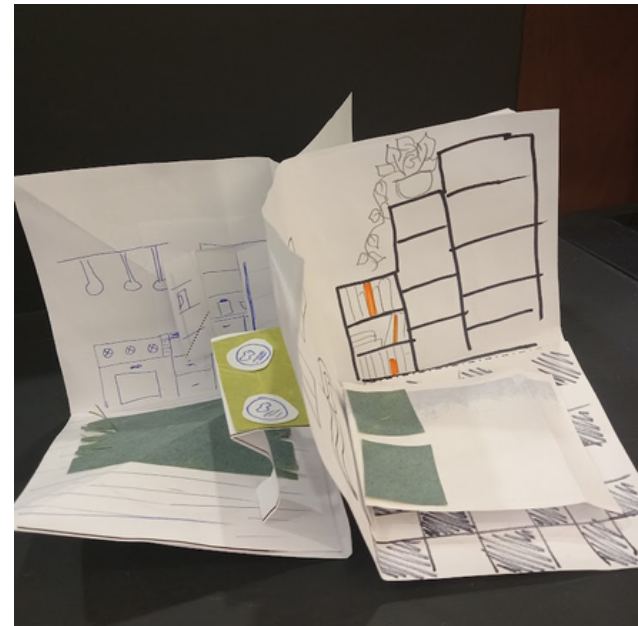

Habitat For Humanity brings people together to build homes, communities, and hope. People in your community and all over the world partner with Habitat for Humanity to build or improve a place they can call home.
<https://www.habitatsoco.org/>

Neighbors helping neighbors, like the barn-raising of old, is the American spirit in action. Rebuilding Together is the leading national volunteer organization that in partnership with communities was born of that spirit as people came together to help their neighbors in need repair their homes.
<https://rtsebastopol.org/>

Making art to explore our topic: Creating a folding paper house

In order to make this little folding house you will use the provided papers, scissors, glue, and drawing materials. You can use pens or crayons or even collage to decorate your little home. I really enjoyed making little doors that opened and a table and bed that stuck out (only glue it to one wall so you can still fold it easily).

Good Citizens are concerned with Fair Housing

Join us for a live book discussion
January 27, 2023 5:00pm
Register at <https://events.sonomalibrary.org/>

Why do we talk about clothes?

Having shelter is an essential need for all the members of a community. This month we are featuring stories of people who designed, built, or worked on improving houses and homes in their communities.

Architects are people who design buildings, the ones on this list found housing to be an essential part of what inspired them. These books also look at how kids and families participate in building homes and can be active citizens in their communities!

Discussion Questions

1. This book club is called Good Citizens, what do you think that means?
2. What does having a home mean? Does everyone have a home?
3. What are the different kinds of homes you see in our community?
4. Do you think the words home and house are the same? Why or why not?
5. How can kids be good citizens when it comes to fair housing?
6. How does having good housing help make our community strong?

What kinds of organizations help with housing in our community?

Habitat For Humanity brings people together to build homes, communities, and hope. People in your community and all over the world partner with Habitat for Humanity to build or improve a place they can call home.

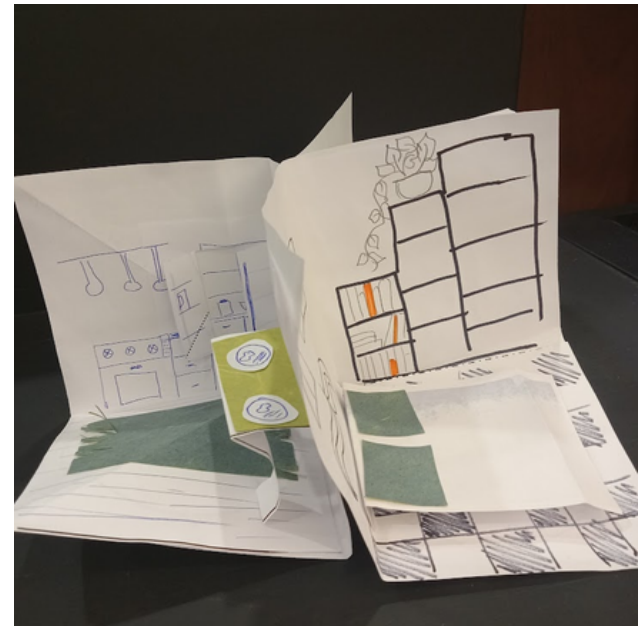

<https://www.habitatsoco.org/>

Neighbors helping neighbors, like the barn-raising of old, is the American spirit in action. Rebuilding Together is the leading national volunteer organization that in partnership with communities was born of that spirit as people came together to help their neighbors in need repair their homes.

<https://rtsebastopol.org/>

Making art to explore our topic: Creating a folding paper house

In order to make this little folding house you will use the provided papers to cut and fold to make rooms. You can use pens or crayons or even collage to decorate your little home. I really enjoyed making little doors the opened and a table and bed that stuck out (only glue it to one wall so you can still fold it easily).