5. DISCUSSION ITEMS

5.a. LAB Plans & Goals: The Guerneville LAB has $500 to spend in the next 9 months (till the end of the fiscal year). What do other LABs do to advocate for their branch libraries and how do they spend their $500 budgets? Rohnert Park LAB partners with Rohnert Park Friends to table at outreach events and at a parade. Petaluma LAB tables at community event, including Lumicon and Butter & Eggs Parade. Windsor purchased books for residents at a low-income housing unit. Other LABs host Open Houses in their community rooms to get community feedback and promote the library. They buy refreshments for their Open Houses. What plans and goals does the Guerneville LAB want to set? Some ideas: Increase program awareness and attendance. Get people to sign up for the monthly e-newsletter, which features upcoming library events. Update Bylaws. Attend outreach events to promote library. Find ways the library can better serve the unhoused.

5.b. Bylaws

5.c. Public use electronics. Gail introduced the idea of buying/running a fax machine at the library. LAB discussed how fax service is not supported by SCL's IT Dept and patrons are usually scanning and emailing documents rather than faxing documents—scanning/emailing is a free service already offered by the library. Fax service is available 2 blocks away at the drugstore for a small fee. LAB decided not to advocate for the addition of a fax machine. Gail introduced the idea of buying a paper shredder for patrons to use. Members discussed whether this was a good fit for the library—considered the noise shredders make, considered how having a shredder would invite people to bring large amounts of paperwork to the library. LAB decided not to advocate for adding a paper shredder at the library and agreed it is better for the library to continue to offer free Shred Days. Shredding service is also available at Kaiser and banks.

5.d. Pedestrian safety. LAB discussed how lights could be added to the crosswalk that's in front of the library to improve pedestrian safety. LAB members encouraged to email their concern and idea to Lynda Hopkins Office as this is a county matter.

6. ACTION ITEMS

Gail: Email Lynda Hopkins Office regarding improving pedestrian safety.

Eve: Email Lynda Hopkins Office regarding improving pedestrian safety.
